1. Is project work under this contract to include only pipeline work, or are pump stations, reservoirs, and treatment facilities included?

The Scope of Work under the contract could potentially include anything to do with the City's water system. This includes: pump stations; water treatment; water mains; engineering reports like water main assessment and recommendations; water master plans; reservoir design; pipeline design.

On the wastewater side, the City is looking for consultant to conduct a sewer main assessment and that can provide general engineering assistance related to our sewer system. A sewer masterplan or other engineering reports may be required, as well.
